

Safe Kids Now National Network News

Issue 2019-2

February

From Stephanie:

Hi SKN members,

We have a new website with SKN members listed under, "National Safe Kids Now Network." Scroll down until you see the link (red/pink) on the home page.

If you are a member, please check your information to make sure it is correct, with picture or send me any changes. People are asking for information on a variety of topics, child abuse, father involvement, parenting, etc.

I want to refer people to your group. If you are not a member, we would love to add you! So, send us your interest and a picture. Your awesome photo makes our network more interesting!

We welcome all citizens who are concerned about youth. Together, we can involve people to support youth.

National Parent Army Founder Christopher Duff discusses parent education SKN Conference Call on February 25

Christophe Duff founder of Innocent Eyes, Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, to promote a culture of zero tolerance of online sexual exploitation of children. He is an investigator in Waveland, Mississippi and has become an important resource for the country to talk about human trafficking. Innocent Eyes provides education and tools to combat the evils of child enticement and child pornography. Chris leads presentations for school, group, and law enforcement.

He has formed a parent group called National Parent Army to bring parents together and provide education and resources to help our kids. Chris will share with us his vision and mission for National Parent Army. Information on this organization may be viewed at www.patreon.com/NationalParentArmy.
