Dr. Katie Eastman “Communicating with Your Young Teens”

Communications with Teens! A message each parent and caregiver wants to understand. Join Dr. Katie Eastman to explore opportunities to change the dynamics of your communications with your young teens.

Dr. Katie Eastman is a program development specialist and consultant in the field of community engagement. She has experience in building community partnerships on the local, national and international level, especially in the non-profit sector. Her greatest skill lies in supporting smaller groups and communities facing the challenges of major social issues. Most recently she has been the director of a community coalition created to improve mental health care and prevent suicide.

Dr. Eastman maintains a practice as a licensed psychotherapist and coach specializing in loss and transition in Anacortes, Washington. She has been in practice more than twenty years, and received her Doctorate at The Antioch New England Graduate Psy.D Program. She has a Master's Degree in Social Work and spent two years in Divinity School.

Happy Halloween!

It seems that this year has gone by so quickly. We will have one monthly conference call in November and resume again in January 2020.

CRIMEFIGHTING GRANNY!

American children are suffering! Only 40% are thriving today! Our new spokesperson, CRIMEFIGHTING GRANNY, has consented to help us produce a video series for parents, grandparents, teachers and coaches showing them how to take steps to improve children's lives. We have produced 8 videos that are posted 2 each week on Monday and Thursday. You will find them at www.facebook.com/stephaniemann.

Please check them out, post comments and share them with your colleagues, family and friends. We must do a better job of parenting for the sake of children and future generations.

Blessings,

Stephanie Mann
